

Press Release

London & Colonial announce DFM Whitechurch Securities now accessible through the Multi-Platform International Open Pension (QROPS).

With the ongoing success of their competitively priced QROPS, the Multi-Platform International Open Pension, London & Colonial is pleased to announce the addition of Whitechurch Securities Limited to the product's panel of approved DFMs.

Adam Wrench, Head of Product, at London & Colonial said:

"With our Multi-Platform International Open Pension continuing to go from strength to strength, it is essential that all underlying investments are properly managed.

With Whitechurch Securities Limited already providing discretionary fund management services in connection with our component SIPP product, the Simple Investment SIPP, we are delighted to be able to now offer their expertise to those investing in the Multi-Platform International Open Pension.

Renowned as one of the leading wealth managers within the industry, their well respected and award winning Investment management team has facilitated their growth into one of the most highly regarded investment boutiques in the country.

Whitechurch run a choice of six separate investment strategies, covering a range of investment objectives and with risk profiles that can provide a solid and fundamental base for any clients' investment portfolio we are pleased that they will soon be applying their talents to yet another product within the London & Colonial range."

Steve Small, Head of Business Development & Strategic Relationships, at Whitechurch Securities Limited, said:

London & Colonial have been providing innovative and creative retirement solutions for the last 25 years, and having already been involved in the management of the underlying investments within their Simple Investment SIPP we are delighted to become involved with their QROPS offering – the Multi-Platform International Open Pension.

We look forward to being able to offer these clients the benefit of our specialist investment expertise.
